Early orders of motors

Secure your plant availability and process continuity

With our service offer around your Möllers machine we provide you a free and individual consultation. In order to ensure the availability of your machines even during the ongoing tensions on the worldwide supply chains, we recommend an early order of your required spare parts.

In particular for ordering motors, we offer comprehensive technical advice tailored to your customer-specific Möllers solution. This includes the replacement of the existing drive technology or the modernization of the plant. This may be necessary due to your customer-specific needs, new legislation or technological improvements. Of course, you will receive a documentation of your near-standard solution free of charge after placing your order.

Seize the opportunity and arrange your individual consultation with an expert from Möllers Packaging Technology today. So you don't have to miss anything when it really matters.
